LAWN TENNIS SENSATION

HOPMAN'S
SURPRISING WIN
OVER
ELLSWORTH VINES.

Australia Takes Two Sets Out of Three.

U.S. STAR CAUSES ANXIETY.

Davis Cup Defeat Now
Avenged.

London, Yesterday.

H. O. Hopman, the Australian Davis Cup player, caused a lawn tennis sensation to-day when he defeated Ellsworth Vines, America's No. 1 ranking player and the second ranking player to Henri Cochet at Wimbledon, by scores of 6-6, 6-2, 6-3 in the London Tournament at Queen's Club. — British Wireless Service.

Vine's Stale?

Ellsworth Vines, who is fancied in many quarters as the new Wimbledon Champion, has shown signs of staleness brought on by extensive tournament play last year. Vines during the last American season carried off seventeen major titles, winning every tournament he entered with the exception of one. The strain on Vines, who is only in his twenty-first year has proved too much for him, and he is apparently below last year's form.

American critics have not taken his defeat too seriously, considering that every champion must suffer a relapse, though his overwhelming defeat by such a singles player as Harry Hopman has given rise to grave anxiety in official sources.

In the Davis Cup match between America and Australia Vines beat Hopman in four sets by 6-2, 9-11, 6-4, 6-4, after nearly succumbing to the brilliance of Jack Crawford.

Hopman is essentially a doubles player, probably one of the world's best. But he has his inspired spells in the singles game and it is then that he is a distinct to any first-class player. Unlike his colleague, Crawford, Hopman is not a temperamental player, but as one of the finest stroking exponents of the younger brigade, he has shown great promise. He has been No. 2 to Crawford in Australia for two years.

HOLMES & SUTCLIFFE SCORE 423

UNDEFEATED 1ST WICKET PARTNERSHIP AT LEYTON

WILL 1898 RECORD GO?

SIXTY-SIXTH CENTURY PARTNERSHIP
BY YORKSHIRE PAIR.

London, Yesterday.

Percy Holmes and Herbert Sutcliffe, Yorkshire's brilliant opening pair, were in magnificent form against Essex at Leyton to-day, where on a hard sun-baked wicket they scored 423 runs in an undefeated first wicket partnership. At the close of play Sutcliffe had scored 231 and Holmes 180. F. E. Greenwood has every reason to be satisfied with his opening pair and Yorkshire's victory looks assured. — British Wireless Service.

Nichols, the Essex fast bowler, was in splendid form at the Oval against Surrey on Monday when he claimed half the home wickets for 67 runs in a total of 243. To-day, however, he was powerless to stop the Yorkshire pair scoring at will. Their batting was supreme and never at any period appeared patchy. O'Connor, H. T. O. Smith and Eastman were also mastered in a most decisive manner.

This is the sixty-sixth occasion upon which Holmes and Sutcliffe have reached the century in an opening partnership, and they now lead the nearest rivals, Jack Hobbs and Andy Sandham, the Surrey pair, by eight. Though not constituting a record for county cricket, J. T. Brown and J. Tunnicliffe, also of Yorkshire, hold the world's record with 554, scored against Derbyshire at Chesterfield in 1898, 423 for the first wicket stands as the second best performance in the history of the County Championship.

The most recent big partnership in English first-class cricket was that between Hobbs and Sandham which realised 428 against Oxford University at the Oval in 1926.

Holmes and Sutcliffe have registered two three-figure partnerships in a single match on two occasions—105 and 265 (undefeated) against Surrey at the Oval in 1926 and 184 and 210 (undefeated) against Notts at Trent Bridge in 1928, whilst Sutcliffe has participated in a Test Match in which he and Hobbs put on 157 in the first innings and 110 in the second against Australia at Sydney in the 1924-5 season. This was Sutcliffe's first appearance in Test Cricket.

IRISH FREE STATE LAND ANNUITY.

£1,500,000 Due This Month.

London, Yesterday.

In a reply to question in the House of Commons as to the payment of £1,500,000 due for transfer by the Irish Free State on account of land annuities the Financial Secretary to the Treasury, Major Walter Elliott, M.P., stated that the next payment did not fall due until the latter part of June.—British Wireless Service.

18 U.S. MISSIONARIES ENDANGERED.

Activity of Rebels
at Hopei.

Peking, Yesterday.

A body of troops who rebelled in North Shantung on June 8 have now penetrated into Hopei. They have taken the towns of Puchow and Kaichow and, it is reported, are maltreating the inhabitants. The Government authorities in Shantung and Hopei are sending troops against them.

As the movements of the rebels have endangered about eighteen American missionaries, the United States Legation has asked the local authorities to take steps to safeguard them and, if necessary, to provide escorts to bring them to places of safety.—Senter.

The House of Representatives to-day passed the Veterans' Bonus Bill providing for the cashing of War Bonus Certificates totalling $2,000,000,000, $500 for Every Soldier.

Unless this Bill is vetoed by the President it means that every man that served in the American army during the war will receive $500 in cash.

The Bill came up last year and was bitterly opposed by Mr. Andrew Mellon, then Secretary of the Treasury, and now American Ambassador to London, who declared that it would injure the credit of the United States. Pre-

GOLD KISES—PRICES FALL

CHURCHILL'S EXPLANATION OF DEPRESSION

ARRESTING A "REMORSELESS DEFLATION"

TASK OF CHECKING DEVALUATION OF COMMODITIES.

London, Yesterday.

In a speech at the City luncheon to-day the Rt. Hon. Mr. Winston Churchill, welcomed the Government support for the proposal to summons a world conference on the money problem in order to arrest what he described as a remorseless deflation.

Tasks before the world conference, he said, were to discover the best practical method by which the devaluation of commodities could be substantially arrested, and to invest that process with that authority which would command and hold the confidence of the most powerful States, and also of the investing classes in every land.

Referring to the enhancement in the price of gold, which he described as a monstrous process which had sabotaged every form of human effort, he said that gold had been cornered, scrambled for, and hoarded.

In the last few years, the price of gold had risen by nearly 70 per cent., and the value of everything else had also fallen in a like degree.

A remarkable feature had been the way in which the prices of all these thousands of commodities had kept already in relation with one another. They had marched forward together in orderly array. One commodity alone, gold, had broken from the ranks, and since it was at present our supreme measure, all the rest had been cast down.—British Wireless Service.

BEAUTIFUL DANCER GAOLED

HER LOVER SENTENCED TO BE SHOT AT DAWN

RINGLEADERS OF ANTI-FASCIST
RIOTS IN ITALY

Rome, Yesterday.

A young and beautiful Austrian dancer, Margharita Blaha, has been sentenced to 30 years in prison while her lover, Domenico Bovone, has been condemned to be shot in the back at dawn as the result of a trial which concluded here last night.

The trial arose from the recent anti-Fascist riots which were quickly suppressed by Premier Mussolini. Seven other ring leaders were also sentenced, five of them to 30 years, and two to 10 years.

Following the suppression of the terrorists, a special Tribunal was created to try the leaders who had been arrested. Most prominent of these were Bovone and his lover Margharita.

Throughout the trial the latter sobbed uncontrollably, knowing the fate in store for them. At midnight yesterday they heard the verdict.

U.S. POLITICAL UPROAR

HALL MANAGER
DEMANDS HIS RENT.

Republican Conference
Rudely Interrupted.

PROHIBITION STAND.

Repeal Favoured.

Chicago, To-day.

Proceedings at the Republican Party's great Convention here were most rudely interrupted to-day at noon. The Party leaders, including many of the most prominent men in the nation, were wrestling earnestly with such thorny problems as Prohibition and the political stand the Party should take.

Suddenly above the uproar that had prevailed all morning came the voice of the Manager of the Stadium in which the convention was being held.

He told them loudly and plainly that he wanted the $8,500 they owed him. And if they didn't give it to him then they could hold their convention somewhere else. "You can't have the Hall to-morrow unless you pay," he said.

Liquor Control.
The Convention's Resolutions Committee adopted as a plank in their platform the abolition of Prohibition and the substitution of Federal Control of liquor. The Committee favoured allowing the individual States to deal with the problem, subject always to the power of the Federal Government to protect States where prohibition may exist, and to safeguard citizens everywhere from the return of the saloon.—Reuter's American Service.

THE LAUSANNE CONFERENCE.

Procedure Arranged.

London, Yesterday.
Representatives of the six invited Powers met this evening at Lausanne to discuss the procedure to be adopted during the conference on the money problem which opens to-morrow. British Wireless Service.

AN ATTACK ON HARBIN.

Another Effort Planned
by Anti-Manchukuo
Troops.

5,000 "RED SPEARS" NEAR ASHIHO.

Japanese Occupy Noho.

Harbin, To-day.

The latest success of the Japanese forces in Manchuria is the occupation of Noho where, according to Japanese reports, they were welcomed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Another engagement of a more serious nature than the skirmishes which have taken place in the past few days is likely to occur to the south of Ashiho, where anti-Manchukuo and "Red Spear" troops, to the number of five thousand, have concentrated. It is reported that the Japanese forces are planning to attack them.

According to Chinese reports, the anti-Manchukuo forces are preparing for another attack on Harbin.

Raiding parties are still active on the eastern section of the Chinese Eastern Railway, where four stations have just been looted.—Reuter.

MISSING JUNK FOUND.

Intact Near Stone-
cutters' Island.

The anxiety that was being entertained last night regarding the safety of a small cargo junk, which had left Cheung Sha Wan for a wharf on the Hong Kong prays, and had failed to put in an appearance at the latter place, has been alleviated as the craft was found intact near Stonecutters' Island at 6.50 o'clock this morning. The owner reported the incident, as up to a late hour last night, nothing had been heard of the junk.

It is believed that the master of the junk probably changed his mind and sailed for another part of the Colony.

GERMANY AFLAME

"BROWN SHIRTS"
PARADE STREETS.

Legality Decree
Signed.

RIOTS FEARED WHEN NAZIS
AND OPPONENTS MEET.

Clashing of "Armies"
Inevitable.

Berlin, To-day.

Taking time by the forelock, thousands of "Brown Shirts" to-day were publicly flaunting their new uniforms, although the decree—restoring the legality of the existence of the Nazi Storm Troops has only just been signed.

The decree comes into force on June 17.

As the decree grants similar concessions to other parties, explosive conditions are anticipated when the Republican Reichsbanner follows the Nazis' lead.

It is feared that the opposing "armies" will come into contact in the streets.—Reuter.

SIR D. MACLEAN'S
DEATH.

President of Board of Education.

GREAT SHOCK TO MINISTERS AT LAUSANNE.

Parliament to Pay Tribute.

London, Yesterday.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, and his colleagues at Lausanne, Sir John Simon, Mr. Neville Chamberlain and Mr. Walter Runciman, were much distressed when the news of Sir Donald Maclean's death was conveyed to them, and they at once despatched a message of condolence to his widow.

The Minister of Agriculture, Sir John Gilmour, during a debate in the House of Commons, said that the earliest possible opportunity would be taken of paying suitable tribute to Sir Donald Maclean, news of whose death had caused his Cabinet colleagues and members of Parliament deep sorrow.

Sir Donald Maclean, President of the Board of Education, died unexpectedly at his London home this afternoon from heart failure. He had been attending to his Departmental duties until within the last few days, and was present at the Cabinet meeting on Wednesday of last week.

He entered Parliament as a Liberal in 1906, and at the last election he held his seat as the member for North Cornwall against the Conservative and Labour opposition. During the crisis of last August, he took a prominent part with his fellow Liberal Leader, Sir Herbert Samuel, in the negotiations which finally led to the establishment of the first National Government.

He entered the Cabinet as the Minister of Education, and when the second National Government was formed two months later, he retained that post.—British Wireless Service.

ROUND HONG KONG'S CINEMA THEATRESOFFICIAL SOURCES.*"ARROWSMITH"

The acknowledged masterpiece of one of America's foremost novelists comes to the screen of the Central Theatre to-day in "Arrowsmith," Samuel Goldwyn's production of Sinclair Lewis's novel, with Ronald Colman playing the title role of the crusading young doctor. Its author was last year rewarded the first Nobel prize for literature ever given an American novelist.

"Arrowsmith" is additionally notable in the fact that it gives Ronald Colman his first American role. In the character of Martin Arrowsmith he plays a brilliant young doctor born in America and battling his way through prejudice and difficulties to the top of the scientific world, risking his life to battle disease among savage negroes, sacrificing everything to his passion for science.

To meet two such famous names as Sinclair Lewis and Ronald Colman, Samuel Goldwyn gathered together a brilliant cast in support. Opposite Colman plays Helen Hayes, the stage star whose performance in "Coquette" was an event in the American theatre; she has recently become an overnight success in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet." Then there is Richard Bennett, another first flight star of the legitimate stage, and father of Constance and Joan Bennett. Beulah Bondi, the individual hit player of "Street Scene" and Myrna Loy are other famous names.

Besides being a brilliant story in its own right, "Arrowsmith" is an accurate inside picture of the profession of scientific medicine. Lewis derived his material for it from Dr. Paul de Kruif, author of "Microbe Hunters" and "Hunger Fighters."

"Arrowsmith," the United Artist's super picture, was directed by John Ford, the veteran director whose work on "The Iron Horse" long since made him a leader in the picture industry. It was adapted to the screen by Sidney Howard with the same technique which made "Raffles," "Bulldog Drummond" and "The Devil To Pay" are outstanding successes.

"SHE'S MY WEAKNESS."

Sue Carol, the young actress who plays opposite Arthur Lake in "She's My Weakness" Radio Pictures' all-talking romantic comedy-drama opening to-day at the Queen's Theatre, didn't go to Hollywood with either a desire or ambition to enter the movies. It just happened.

She lunched with Janet Gaynor during her first day in Hollywood and met Nick Stuart, who now is her husband. Sue and Janet had been friends in Chicago and when Janet gave her a luncheon before her departure for Chicago, she met several studio executives who persuaded her to have a test made. The tests proved satisfactory and a small part was offered. Her success was so great that she was signed on a featured contract.

"BEGGAR STUDENT"

The latest musical comedy picture to be shown at the Queen's Theatre is "The Beggar Student." It will be there on Sunday, and is hailed by critics as an outstanding British picture.

It is a "talkie," of course, and is well supplied with lilting music and songs, which are used in a more intelligent fashion than is usual.

It is adapted from the world-famous Viennese Operetta by Carl Millocker, and deals with an intriguing and amorous Colonel who, spurned by the girl of his choice, tries to win her by strategy. Shirley Dale, Lance Fairfax and Jerry Verno, are the principal figures in the cast.

"GOOD SPORT"

"There's nothing wrong with marriage—it's just some of the people in it—people like you Rex!"

With this declaration, Linda Watkins sums up the results of her three-months' investigation of matrimony in general and her own marital situation in particular in "Good Sport," the unusual screen offering that shows to-day at the King's Theatre.

Of immense interest to feminine patrons through its frank revelations of why and how light-fingered women steal other women's husbands, "Good Sport" is a picture to intrigue every spectator.

With John Boles opposite Miss Watkins in the leading roles and a supporting cast headed by Greta Nissen, Minna Gömbell, Allan Dinehart and Hedda Hopper, "Good Sport" is said to furnish some notable acting, in addition to its novel story. Kenneth MacKenna directed the production from a screen by William Hurlbut. The film also presents some of the season's newest fashions in the gowns worn by Miss Watkins and the other feminine principals.

"AMBASSADOR BILL"

Imagine having a big, husky giant saunter up to you leisurely and say, "I guess you don't remember me, but I'm the guy you bayoneted during the battle of Premysl." What would you do? Would you greet him like a long lost brother? Or would you run?

Such an experience actually happened, recently to Alexander Kahle, Will Rogers' pet cameraman during the filming of one of the sequences of the latter's latest Fox starring picture, "Ambassador Bill," which opens at the King's Theatre next Sunday. Kahle was a sergeant in the German army during the war, and the other man had been a Russian captain.

Such incidents, are no means rare in Hollywood. It is veritably a refuge for the "once-great" of all the nations of the earth. An ex-president of Mexico, for instance, now teaches singing to aspiring warblers of the screen. An ex-ballerina, who once ranked almost with Pavlova, is glad for occasional bit parts and extra work. An ex-Austrian ambassador is a director of "quickie" pictures. And so it goes.

In "Ambassador Bill," for instance many of those who attend the court reception would actually have graced such an assemblage fifteen years ago.

Sam Taylor directed the picture, which features Greta Nissen and Maguerite Churchill, in support of Rogers.

CHINESE LEADERS RETURN.

Dr. Koo to Accompany Mission to Japan.

MANCHURIAN QUESTIONS.

Nanking, Yesterday.
Dr. Wellington Koo, accompanied by Messrs. Wang Ching-wei, Lo Wen-kan, Li Chai-sum and Wang Shao-hung, returned to Nanking from Kuling at 4 p.m. to-day in Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's private aeroplane. The leaders refused to divulge details of their discussions at Kuling.

It has been learned that the Manchurian question occupied most of the attention of the Government leaders. One of the matters decided was the decision for Dr. Koo to go to Japan with the League of Nations Commission.

Dr. Koo went to Shanghai to-day, and will return to Nanking to-morrow, and is expected at Peking on Friday.—Reuter.

POPE'S CALL TO WORLD.

To Renounce Games and Amusements.

Rome, May 18.
A call to the world for prayers and atonement will be sounded by the Pope in an Encyclical to be broadcast from the Vatican City's high power wireless station this evening.

The Encyclical, a circular letter addressed to the patriarchs, Archbishops, and Bishops of the Catholic Church, will deal with the evils that are affecting the world at the present time. The chief causes of the world's troubles will be described in the Encyclical as:—
Atheism, Communism, exaggerated nationalism, and corruption.

Against Communism.
It is understood that the Encyclical will point out that extremist political parties, especially the Communists, are attempting to take advantage of the present crisis to subvert social order and spread their deadly doctrines, especially atheism, which is attracting an ever increasing number of supporters. Atheists, declares the Pope, are finding good allies in secret associations and sects.

The Pontiff will express the opinion that mankind does not pray to God sufficiently, but turns its attention exclusively to the improvement of a material and mechanical civilisation. Men, the Pope will declare, think too much of increasing the speed of life. The pursuit of speed has results that are ultimately harmful and useless.

A Penance.
Prayers and atonement, the Encyclical states, are the only two means for alleviating the evils that infect the world to-day.

In order to achieve this attitude the Pope will appoint Corpus Christi, the Roman Catholic festival in honour of the Eucharist, as a day of prayer in the churches, and will suggest that amusements and recreations be renounced by the faithful as a penance on the eight succeeding days.

The Encyclical will be broadcast in English at 9 p.m. on a wavelength of 50.26 metres. Afterwards it will be repeated in French, German, Spanish and Polish, each language taking up ten minutes' time.

As many missionaries in remote parts of Africa and China were recently provided with wireless sets to enable them to pick up Vatican City broadcasts, the Papal letters will be circulated over a wide area of the globe more quickly than any other previous Encyclical.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT FINANCES.

New Measures to Be Adopted.

MR. WANG CHING-WEI.

Nanking, Yesterday.
Mr. Wang Ching-wei interviewed to-day pointed out that one of the most important questions confronting the Chinese Government at present relates to national finance and foreign relations. He intimated that as a result of the recent conferences, a new measure to cope with the financial difficulties had been decided upon, but before action, Chiang Kai-shek's views on the new measure must be ascertained.

He also intimated that as soon as a decision had been reached in this connection Mr. T. V. Soong would withdraw his resignation and resume his duties as Finance Minister.—Reuter.

They then attacked it with long handled shovels and battered it to death.

In an unconscious state and suffering severely from shock, the man was raised on to the wharf by his workmates, who rendered first-aid.

SNAPPY EVE FETCHES HIGHEST PRICE

CHAMPION JOCKEY SELECTS TWO PONIES.

YESTERDAY'S RACE PONY AUCTION

INTERPORT TENNIS PLAYER SHOWS LIVE INTEREST IN LOCAL RACING.

Twenty-four race ponies were sold by public auction at the Jockey Club stables yesterday and realised the disappointingly small total of $2,255.

Mr. Woo Lai-tin paid the highest price for Snappy Eve which has run in ten races at the Valley and been placed second on one occasion and third on another during the first half of the season. Mr. Woo Lai-tin paid $410 for Eve's pony. Blue Love, which fell to Mr. O. T. Whitten, fetched $360. This pony has been credited with only one win in eight races at the Valley this season.

Shawnee II, Twilight, and Golden Glory fetched the minimum price of $5 each as none of them have participated at the Valley this season. King's Lynn has not made an appearance this season, but Mr. Chan Yeung Chai fancied the horse and went to $100 for it.

Mr. Leo Frost, Hong Kong's leading jockey, bought Jupiter for $210 and Beauty Spot for $120. The former started in twelve races and was placed third once, whilst the latter has been unplaced in six events.

Punch excited interest up to $1,475, but as the required $25 was not forthcoming the pony was held over. Punch has had two wins and two-thirds in thirteen races. Little Beaver, which has one win out of six events, went to $975, but was held over, $1,000 being the reserved price. Gold Digger went to $450, but owing to its having gained third place three times in eleven events the reserved price was $500. Vesta, which has been unplaced twice, went to $275 but, as the required $25 was not forthcoming, it was held over.

Yew Man Kit, the Interport Lawn Tennis player, also takes a keen interest in racing, and yesterday saw him purchase Gamester and Acacia Leaf at low prices.

Full details of the auction which was conducted by Messrs. Hughes & Hough were as follow:—

HOLMES & SUTCLIFFE SCORE 423.

Sutcliffe has assisted Hobbs in twenty-six three-figure partnerships, fifteen of which have been registered in Test matches. Seven of these partnerships have been over 200.

Holmes and Sutcliffe reached three figures on nine occasions in the 1923 season, and five years later created a record by registering eleven such feats in a season. In that same season Sutcliffe scored thirteen centuries, a feat which he repeated last season.

The highest first wicket partnerships in first-class cricket in the three leading cricketing countries in the world are as follow:—

In England.
 554—J. T. Brown and J. Tunncliffe (Yorkshire v. Derbyshire at Chesterfield) in 1899.

In Australia.
 456—E. R. Mayne and W. H. Ponsford (Victoria v. Queensland at Melbourne) in 1923-4.

A WHOLE WEEK'S NEWSPAPERS IN ONE.

The great danger of a water shortage that has threatened the Colony since the beginning of May, when drastic restrictions had to be enforced suddenly, was alleviated on June 15, when the withdrawal of all restrictions was decided upon at a conference of Public Works Department officials. This step was taken in view of an abnormal rainfall the previous day, which gave over five inches. Recently, to cope with the serious situation, group fountains were instituted, but these are to be withdrawn too. A full report of the shortage is contained in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Mr. A. A. R. Botelho, piloting Roda's City of Shanghai home to pay the highest dividend of the day — $224.60 — put a fitting climax to the first half of the year's racing season at Happy Valley on June 11, when the Eighth Extra Meeting was held. In spite of bad weather conditions, a bright tone prevailed throughout, and outsiders romped home in all events except three. There was a spill when Gallant Fox, ridden by Mr. W. W. Miles was crushed on to the rails and fell, throwing the rider heavily. The meeting, together with details of the season's racing, is published in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Hong Kong is to be the venue of a talking picture, entitled "China Seas," which will deal with the piracy scourge on the China Coast, being laid chiefly in Hong Kong and Philippine Islands. Messrs. Ira J. Morgan and Roy Scott, both camera-men of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, have been in the Colony taking the "atmospheric shots." An interesting interview is given in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

The All-India Olympic Hockey eleven and World Champions passed through the Colony on the N.Y.K. Haruna Maru on June 9. A match with a representative Hong Kong team was arranged but owing to heavy rain had to be cancelled, thus depriving local hockey enthusiasts of a golden opportunity of seeing Dhyen Chand, the wizard centre-forward, in action.

On June 13, the Philippine Olympic Delegation, composed of three swimmers, three boxers, and a high jumper, passed through. In the V.R.C. bath the following night, the visitors shattered a number of local records, when they competed against Hong Kong champions. Detailed reports of the visits are chronicled in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Two Chinese, who privately advertised themselves as qualified dental surgeons in Queen's Road Central, were fined $200 each by the Central Police Court Magistrate on June 15. For the prosecution, Inspector Murphy said that the summons was the outcome of complaints received by the Government regarding serious cases resulting from unsuccessful operations by so-called dentists. The case is reported in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Indian Olympic Hockey XI.

COLOMBO TROUNCED BY 21 GOALS TO 1

PERFECT MARKSMANSHIP OF WONDER TEAM

DHYAN CHAND NOT SPECTACULAR

ACTIVE BRAIN CAUSES INSIDE TRIO TO CLAIM EIGHTEEN GOALS.

Hockey enthusiasts in the Colony were greatly disappointed at the inclement weather which prevailed during the brief visit of the Indian Olympic Hockey eleven and which caused the cancellation of the game between the world's champions and a local combination. Still more disappointed will those enthusiasts be when they read the glowing tributes paid to the tourists at each port of call on their way to Los Angeles.

Below is published "Onlooker's" appreciation of the Indian Hockey eleven in the Ceylon Observer after that team had established an international record by defeating Colombo by the margin of 21 goals to 1.

There were many features of outstanding merit in the play of the visitors. One could not help noticing the efficacy of their delightful short passes and the admirable positioning of their forwards and halves to receive a pass. When their forwards got on the move they advanced in echelon like a wave sweeping everything in its way. The Ceylon defence seemed then outnumbered by, as it were, two of one. Those short crisp passes, out and in, with players readily inter-changing positions temporarily, was a revelation indeed to the spectators; and when an Indian player parted company with the ball it was invariably to give it to one in a better position for attack or defence.

Star Centre's Exhibition. Dyan Chand, as the centre forward gave a wonderful exhibition in a very difficult role. He was certainly not the most spectacular player on the side. His brother Rup Singh, Gurmit Singh the inside right, Carr the left wing forward and even Lal Shah "caught the eye" more often for brilliancy in attack.

Replica of Shaveller. The qualifications needed for an ideal centre forward are of a high order. Old players who have seen S. H. Shaveller, the English prince of centre forwards have told me that he was a model. Yesterday Dyan Chand showed us why he has been called the greatest centre forward in the world, to-day. He must be a replica of Shaveller if not even greater.

Inside Trio Score 18. Possessing a very active brain, quick to devise plans and carry them into effect, he proved himself a fast and clever dribbler and above all a deadly marksman, who found the net six times. Had he been at all selfish he might have scored double that number of goals, but he was not out to do so. His first duties were to find out the weak spots in the opposing defence and to concentrate his attack in that quarter. Yesterday he drew the defence to him time after time and then with deft wrist work coaxed the ball to the left inside or the right inside with a clever short pass and these men being unmarked were able to score. Rup Singh on the left scored 7 goals, and Gurmit Singh 5.

The Diagonal Pass. Thus between the three inside forwards 18 of the 21 goals were scored. This showed us that the Indian wing men knew their duties and carried them out well. Thrice did Carr on the left wing score and that was when the ball was slung out to him from the centres. I noticed Dyan Chand more than once serve out a longish diagonal pass to the wing. This move enabled the fast wings, like Carr and Sullivan to dash in and have a bang at goal.

Marvellous Marksmanship. The Indian forwards were great opportunists and their marksmanship was amazing. It was only some wonderful clearances by Razel, the Ceylon goalie that prevented the Indian score going past 30.

Snap Shooting. Even the casual spectator must have been amazed by the perfect direction of the shooting. Some of the bangs at goal were made at tremendous pace and one heard a thud as the ball hit the boards, even before one realised that "the bullet had found its billet." I have never seen such forceful bombing.

There were many features of outstanding merit in the play of the visitors. One could not help noticing the efficacy of their delightful short passes and the admirable positioning of their forwards and halves to receive a pass. When their forwards got on the move they advanced in echelon like a wave sweeping everything in its way. The Ceylon defence seemed then outnumbered by, as it were, two of one. Those short crisp passes, out and in, with players readily inter-changing positions temporarily, was a revelation indeed to the spectators; and when an Indian player parted company with the ball it was invariably to give it to one in a better position for attack or defence.

Chand's Artistry. The ball control of the Indian players was almost uncanny. Dyan Chand wielded his stick as Trumper used to handle his bat or as a virtuoso violinist manipulates his bow. His sensitive fingers made him control that ball in an amazing manner. Perhaps the spectators did not appreciate Dyan Chand's artistry as much as they observed and admired the "jugglery" of Carr and one or two others who got the ball on the stick and then carried it along, as in an "egg and spoon race." I had seen R. Cromie do something of this sort years ago for Up-country, but his best performances pale before what we saw the Indians do yesterday.

The Indians in short have perfected the art of Hockey and reduced it to a fine art and science. They play to a plan and subordinate individual brilliance to team work.

NEW SCRUMMAGE FORMATION.

Australian Selection Is Conservative.

"THREE-TWO-THREE THE BEST"

Sydney, M., 9.

The fact that the members of the Australian Rugby Union Selection Committee are not unanimous regarding the value of the new three-four-one scrummage formation adopted by New South Wales after the South Africans had successfully exploited it during their tour of Great Britain, is revealed by the comments of Mr. Harold Baker, an Australian and Queensland selector, and formerly a member of the New South Wales selection committee.

The idea of the New South Wales selector, Mr. T. R. Bosward, and other advocates of the new formation is that, apart from the general merit of the formation, it will be found necessary to adopt the style when an Australian team tours South Africa at the end of this season. Mr. Baker witnessed the new formation for the first time on Saturday, when New South Wales packed three-four-one against Queensland's orthodox three-two-three at Brisbane.

Lawton Did Not Change.

Mr. Baker declares that the Queensland captain, Lawton, was ready at a moment's notice to apply counter-moves if, in his opinion, as the game progressed, the New South Wales formation was found to be superior to that played by Queensland. "Lawton had no occasion to alter his scrum formation, being thoroughly satisfied that it was superior to the scrummage introduced by the New South Walesmen," says Mr. Baker. "The possession of the ball from the scrums was: Queensland 22, New South Wales 15. This is very definite proof that the method so practised for many years in Australia is still the best."

Winning The Ball.

Mr. Baker's main contention is that the three-four-one formation cannot hold its own against the three-two-three pack on actual application of weight in the scrums. He also believes that the second line of the formation is too long; the flanks, while affording excellent protection for the half, are worth little from the point of view of applying weight; and that the second row could never be wheeled.

He further states that there were occasions on Saturday when the Queensland "hooker," Bonis, actually lost first possession of the ball; but called for more weight and was able to regain possession when the Blues were pushed off the ball.

Not To Continue With It.

"It is for this reason," concludes this Australian selector, "that, having seen the new experiment, I am of opinion that it will not be in the best interests of our football to continue with it, particularly in view of the fact that after long years of agitation we have at last been able to have abolished the obstructive wing forward as played by New Zealand."

No doubt Mr. Bosward, a fellow Australian selector and one of the keenest advocates of the three-four-one pack, will endeavour to persuade Mr. Baker to change his views. Regarding the matter of applying weight, it is interesting to note the remarks of a writer in the London Observer, who referred to the scientific manner in which the Springboks exploited the new formation, and stated that in all their international matches the South Africans had crumpled up the opposition front rank. The forwards, he declared, had won recognition as one of the greatest packs in international Rugby.

Olympic boxing is a very strenuous business. It calls more for physical force, rugged determination, and staying power than artistic subtlety or finesse. A man who possesses the stronger qualities wedded to an aggressive technique stands the best chance of battling through to the final, but you can depend upon it he will have to battle all right not only to beat his actual opponents in the ring, but to impress judges whose qualifications for the post are not always up to standard—Fred Dartnall.

TOTAL WINS ROYAL HUNT CUP AT ASCOT.

Two Length Victory Over Seven Furlongs.

London, Yesterday.

Total, a rank outsider at 33-1, caused considerable surprise when it won the Royal Hunt Cup over seven furlongs, beating Eyes Front (25-1) by two lengths. In a field of thirty-one Prickett (9-1) came third, just failing to dead-heat with Eyes Front.

The glorious weather which prevailed yesterday was again in evidence to-day and a large crowd thronged the lawns and paddocks on this the second day of the Ascot meeting—Reuter.

JACK SHARKEY OFFERED $10,000 TO FIGHT LARRY GAINS.

Tells Dickson That He Will Be Champion on July 25.

Jeff Dickson, the greatest boxing promoter since the days of Tex Rickard, cabled to Jack Sharkey's manager offering the Boston sailor $10,000 to fight Larry Gains, the conqueror of Primo Carnera, at the White City Stadium, London, on July 25.

Sharkey's reply to Jeff Dickson's proposition was "You seem to forget that I will be World's Champion on the date you suggest." He was of course eluding to his coming fight against Max Schmeling, the heavyweight champion of the world.

COTTON'S EXCITING WIN BEATS TWINE BY ONE STROKE.

Loser's Gallant Fight Throughout.

COTTON'S PORK-PIE HAT.

"Colour Scheme Mexican or Buffalo Bill?"

Southport, May 14.

Henry Cotton beat Billy Twine by one stroke in a thrilling replay over thirty-six holes for the chief honours in the Dunlop 1,500 guineas tournament here to-day.

The result was in desperate doubt till the last putt was holed out on the thirty-sixth green, and the excitement was so intense that policemen had to be called in to keep the crowd from closing in and confusing the players, both of whom were nearly worn out at the finish.

Five thousand people watched the afternoon round, an excited crowd rushing hither and thither and giving the stewards a strenuous task to keep order in the hot summer weather.

Their sympathies were obviously with Twine, perhaps because he looked so quiet and demure in contrast with his more flamboyant rival.

He earned the heartier applause; he was down for most of the day: two strokes behind at the end of the morning round, and three behind at the turn in the afternoon.

Then Twine, playing splendidly, crept up. He was only one stroke in arrears at the fifteenth, and at the next hole, amid tremendous excitement, he sank a putt of six yards for a three to square the battle.

Excited Crowd.

But he was just off the green with his tee-shot to the short seventeenth. He could not get his three, and Cotton—though in his nervousness he just missed a short putt for a 2—stood a stroke ahead with one hole to play.

The crowd rushed wildly to the eighteenth hole; women screaming, men shouting. It seemed that only the players kept cool heads; they played the hole admirably.

But though Twine went out bravely for a 3, his last hope failed, and a division in 4 gave victory to Cotton in one of the most thrilling replays ever decided in an important tournament.

There was something which suggested British against foreign golf in the appearance of the rivals. Twine, tall and thin, looked typically English in a golf cap, tweed jacket, and plus-fours; but Cotton

YANKEES WILL WIN THE LEAGUE.

Babe Ruth on American Baseball.

HAS WATER ON THE KNEE.

Babe Ruth has given up his alter-nate love—golf—in order to concentrate on and conserve his energies for the business of helping to wallop the New York Yankees to the top of the American League.

"I found out last year I couldn't combine the two games and be at my best," he said. "Maybe I'm getting a little old—but these ball games are tough enough on the legs."

"I need the rest I can get on these off days, especially since I have a little touch of water on the knee now and have to take care of that."

This sounded a bit alarming but the Babe added: "No, it doesn't amount to much. I've had it before."

Babe Ruth, meanwhile, sees no reason for changing his prediction on the order of the American League finish—New York, Washington, Philadelphia.

"I'm not so surprised to see the Athletics slipping," he said. "I expected them to. Washington will be our toughest opposition but the Yankees should win in a walk."

"Our pitching will get better with warmer weather. Right now, the way we are hitting, we don't have to worry much about the pitching. Just keep your eye on Byrd and Crosetti—they are two of the greatest young ball-players in the League."

Was he still experimenting with his own batting stance?

"No, I've gone back to my old way of standing at the plate. I've been hitting pretty well anyway and I feel more comfortable with the left foot well back. It may sound funny but I'm still trying to learn how it's done, after 19 years."

by contrast a dazzling vision from his pork-pie hat, by way of a green scarf, sage green jersey, and light grey trousers, to his smart black and white shoes.

I heard a famous professional in the crowd remark as he gazed at Cotton: "And what is the colour scheme this morning, Mexican or Buffalo Bill?"

Cotton had a little the better of the play in the morning round, and would probably have led at the interval by a wider margin than two strokes if his putting had been blessed with a little more luck. He drove on the average the longer ball, but did not press home his advantage on the greens.

The early play, followed by a big gallery, ran an even course, and it was not until he reached the eighth hole that Cotton really began to draw away. He holed a five yards putt there for a 3, and followed it with a splendid 4 at the ninth (465 yards), which is the longest on the course.

Twine, on the other hand, had a disastrous experience at this hole, for he pulled his drive out of bounds, took four strokes to reach the green, missed a putt, and registered a 6.

Spectacular End.

Cotton had a lead of three strokes at the turn; Twine got one back at the eleventh, but fell away again at the thirteenth, where he pulled his drive among the sandhills, and he could make no further headway till the game reached the home hole. He made a spectacular finish.

He pulled his drive once more, but from a difficult stance on the top of a sandhill he pitched to within five feet of the pin and holed the putt for a 4.

The morning scores were: Cotton—Out: 4 4 4 4 3 4 3 4—34. Home: 5 5 4 4 5 3 4 3—37-71. Twine—Out: 4 4 5 3 4 3 4 4—37. Home: 5 4 4 5 3 4 3 3—36-73.

The ninth hole again in the afternoon proved a hoodoo for Twine. He was once more out of bounds from the tee, this time with a sliced shot, and another six went down on his card.

Cotton had a lead of three strokes at the turn, and looking picturesque in the vivid yellow shirt, revealed when for coolness sake he doffed his green jersey, he seemed happily set for victory.

The game changed, however, for Cotton dropped strokes on the tenth and fourteenth greens, and with four holes to play his lead was down to one, and he lost his thrilling finish.

The afternoon scores were: Cotton—Out: 5 4 4 3 4 4 5 3—37. Home: 4 4 4 4 3 4 4 3—35-72. Twine—Out: 5 3 4 4 4 4 4 4—38. Home: 3 4 4 4 4 4 3 3—35-73.

C.K. NAIDU'S BRILLIANT INNINGS AT LORD'S

BIG CONTRAST BETWEEN JARDINE & CHAPMAN

DEFEAT AT SOUTHAMPTON

HAMPSHIRE BOWLERS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF WORN WICKET.

The All-India Cricket tourists experienced a dull spell of weather during their matches with the M.C.C. at Lord's and Hampshire at Southampton, and their indifferent displays as a consequence were quite excusable.

Capt. C. K. Naidu, the Indore all-rounder, however, did not allow the weather to get him down and scored a brilliant undefeated century at Lord's against such bowlers as Ian Peebles, Jack White, Greville Stevens and Bowes, the Yorkshire fast bowler. It was a grand knock, and he followed it up by dismissing D. R. Jardine, Greville Stevens, Vallance Jupp and Jack White at a cost of 7 runs.

An unfortunate accident occurred in the Lord's match. Wazir Ali was facing Bowes at the pavilion and shaped wrongly to a delivery from the fast bowler which got up sharply and was hit on the head. Amid tense silence Wazir Ali was taken off the field on a stretcher, but fortunately an x-ray examination revealed no injury to the head, and he will be fit again in a few days.

London, May 24. Rain again fell overnight and the wicket was not in a fit state for play to-day thus causing the abandonment of the game between the All-India XI and the M.C.C. at Lord's.

The feature of a match spoiled by rain was the batting of C. K. Naidu, who carried his bat for 118. He was in great form in front of the wicket and time and again he drew applause from the packed stands by his superb driving. He was also very severe on the ball on the leg side and one glorious six off Peebles soon made that bowler change his tactics. In addition to hitting a six Naidu hit twelve boundaries in a very fine innings.

An interesting feature of the match was the batting of D. R. Jardine, who is considered to be the likely English captain against Australia. He was at the wicket for half an hour before he scored. In partnership with Greville Stevens, the Middlesex all-rounder, Jardine helped to add 74 runs for the fourth wicket in 100 minutes on a pitch which was beginning to show signs of wear.

When he returned an easy catch to Naidu, Jardine had scored 44 out of 116 in 160 minutes.

In strict contrast to his rival, Percy Chapman went in and scored 36 out of 53 in the last half hour of play and was undefeated at the close.

Naidu again gave a splendid display behind the sticks, dismissing A. M. Crawley, the Oxford batsman, with a great catch on the leg side off the Indian fast bowler, Amar Singh. He also dismissed E. W. Dawson, the Leicestershire skipper, and conceded but four byes in a total of 200.

The Report of the Lytton Commission.

Whatever the views of the Lytton Commission, which for the past two or three months has been investigating the causes of the Sino-Japanese dispute, with particular regard to Manchuria, the Commission evidently takes itself seriously and the latest remark of the chairman, the Earl of Lytton, to the effect that the League will probably ask of the parties, "Are you prepared to negotiate on the basis of this report?" would indicate that either the Commission is unaware of the many disparaging comments made regarding it, or that the Commission is satisfied that it has ascertained sufficient facts to enable a report to be drawn up which would be of value in assessing the affair. To those who still have faith in the League the optimism of the chairman will inspire fresh hope but most will retain their scepticism. The report will be submitted to Geneva at the end of the Summer, possibly in August, and by then events in the Far East will have shaped their own course. In any event, if any constructive suggestions were made by the Commission it is difficult to credit the League with the power, or the purpose, to put them into effect. The League appointed the Commission at a time when some action was imperative in order to save face and it is suspected that the report is now awaited with some measure of apprehension. Latest indications point to the possibility of the Lytton group making the report strong enough to force some action by the League. Both China and Japan have definite and inchangeable views on Manchuria and in the events of the findings being unfavourable to either party that party would simply ignore the report. International interest is more than casual but urgent that the Manchurian affair is not likely to engage the attention it would merit in normal times, and any report to force it out of the question. The whole thing hinges on the Far East, and there are not a few now who claim that they can frame the report and the League's finding. Needless to say both predictions are not complimentary to the League, but it must be admitted for the harassed officials at Geneva that the solution of the dispute is practically impossible now that events have been allowed to reach the present stage. Japan occupies Manchuria, exercises a military dominance, and has set up a new regime in the new State. Nothing but a large-scale armed conflict which should shake not only the Far East, but the whole world, could oust the Japanese now. Nevertheless, the Japanese action remains unjustified and China is still presented with no redress. The Commission may have something constructive to suggest in this matter and if the action demanded of the League is not too great some action of value may be accomplished. The Commission has decided wisely in announcing that the report would be written in both Japan and Tokyo and any doubts of bias will be thus removed. While no great optimism is felt, the hope is held that the Commission's report may reach the root of the trouble and enable constructive action to be taken.

CHINESE DOMESTIC TROUBLES.

Convent Girl's Unhappy Married Life.

CASE ADJOURNED.

At the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, Pau Sook-ching, a former pupil at the Italian Convent, summoned her husband Yu Wah-fung, for alleged cruelty and maintenance. The case was heard by Mr. Schofield, and after evidence had been given by the complainant, the hearing was adjourned.

Mr. Hin-shing Lo, instructed by Mr. Peter H. Sin, conducted the prosecution, while Mr. F. X. D'Almada jun., was for the husband.

Married in 1929.
Mr. Lo said that the complainant was married to the defendant in 1929, since when a series of incidents had rendered her life a very unhappy one.

Jug Broken.
In 1931, the house cat broke a water jug one night. He blamed her for the loss of the jug, and for three days, the wife alleges, kept up a continual scolding, in which he was joined by an aunt who had taken up living with them. Cups and other ornaments were flung about.

"The superstitious Chinese," said Mr. Lo, "consider that a bad omen, while the more enlightened would consider it an insult."

Wife Insulted.
The same design to insult and annoy the woman was evident in another incident in the same year, when the man, on the advice, it is alleged, of his aunt, bought a separate bed and slept apart from his wife.

The incident which finally caused the wife to leave home was when he requested her to clean his shoes as she sometimes did. She now pointed out to him that she would clean his shoes if the other woman left the house.

In the proceedings before the S.C.A., the wife had asked for $80 a month maintenance, but the husband's only reply was "come back and live with us." Both the man and his aunt owned property in the Colony. Mr. Lo said he mentioned this in case it should be claimed later that he was not in a position to furnish the maintenance asked for.

DRANK 28 DOUBLE WHISKIES

Wife's Exploits While Mind a Blank.

The exploits of a wife who was charged with the theft of a clock from the Royal Albion Hotel, Brighton, were described by her husband in the police court. His wife, he said,

Made a speech and presented prizes at a Hampton Court Regatta while under the influence of drink. Drove a motor-boat from Thames Ditton to Richmond and back, although ignorant of motor-boats, and also under the influence of drink. Drank two or three bottles of whisky a day.

The woman was Mrs. Winifred Thornton, aged 30, of Ebury Street, S.W. The magistrate dismissed the charge, accepting the plea that Mrs. Thornton was not responsible for her acts because of drink.

It was stated she was found in Mr. Harry Preston's bedroom at the hotel.

Handled $15,000.
Mr. Charles Jerome Thornton, the husband, said he was a well-known research chemist. His wife received $7 a week while he was away, and $3 while he was in London. In spite of her drinking habits she had always behaved perfectly normally, and he had entrusted her with the handling of money, on one occasion to the extent of nearly $15,000.

"I have never known her to steal or use bad language or even to stagger when she has been drunk, even after as many as 28 double whiskies."

"I have pleaded with her, I have cajoled her, I have even—I am ashamed to confess it—used force, but to no effect. After these incidents her mind was a blank."

Another woman, Marie Cooke, was charged with theft of a clock from the Royal Albion Hotel, Brighton, and charged with the same offence as Mrs. Thornton.

TRAGEDY OF DELUSIONS

Woman's Baseless Charges Against Man Friend.

An astonishing letter left by a dead woman to a man in which she referred to him as "a liar, a seducer, and a double murderer," was read at a Westminster inquest on Mrs. Cecily Proby Bassett, aged forty-two, of the School-house, Pendock, Malvern, Worcester.

Mrs. Bassett and her daughter Patricia, aged twelve, were found dead from poison in bed at the Strand Palace Hotel.

The jury returned a verdict that Mrs. Bassett murdered her daughter and committed suicide while of unsound mind.

It was stated that Mrs. Bassett was living apart from her husband, who was in Canada.

Mr. Richard Saunders, of Daybrook Road, Merton Park, said that Mrs. Bassett was the sister of his daughter-in-law.

Mr. Ingleby Oddie, the coroner: Have you seen this letter she has left?—No.

Mr. Saunders took the letter, and after reading it said, "I can't understand it, sir."

"What has passed between you?" asked Mr. Ingleby Oddie.

Mr. Saunders: Nothing whatever except our friendship.

Had she ever expressed herself as being jealous of the woman you were going to marry?—I think she was rather disappointed. I think she was rather averse to my being married.

She wanted to marry you herself, did she?—I do not think so.

Mr. Ingleby Oddie: Have you been her lover at any time? No, sir. I looked on her as a sister more than anything else.

Mr. Ingleby Oddie: She leaves a letter addressed to you in which she calls you "a liar, a seducer, and a double murderer." She says, "You have much to answer for."

"What have you to answer for?" asked Mr. Ingleby Oddie.

"I cannot tell you, sir," replied Mr. Saunders. "I think it was a delusion."

Mr. Ingleby Oddie quoted this further passage from the letter:—"Had you behaved as an honourable man on Friday, instead of being a despicable cad our tragic end might have been avoided."

Mr. Saunders: I did not see her on Friday.

Mr. Oddie, summing up, said he saw no reason to disbelieve Mr. Saunders' story, and he accepted it.

"If he is right," he added, "it is obvious the woman was suffering from delusions, and while in that condition murdered her daughter and took her own life."

NORMAN FINDS AT COLCHESTER

How An Old Riddle May Be Solved.

Keen interest has been aroused among archaeologists at the discovery of two hitherto unsuspected Norman buildings at Colchester. During the past few months an opportunity of excavating in the Colchester Castle Park has been seized, and the ground on the south side of the Norman Keep has been explored. The first find was the foundation of an early Norman chapel, made almost entirely of Roman materials.

In addition to this, the foundations of another building are being explored immediately outside the main entrance to the Keep, and this may supply the key to a riddle of Colchester Castle.

While Norman keeps generally had a forebuilding guarding the entrance, no trace has so far been found of one at Colchester. The excavators are already convinced that their discovery is none other than the missing forebuilding, and that it had steps up to the Keep. The part excavated so far is also of Roman brick, and one of the most interesting features of the new finds is the skill with which the Norman builders used Roman materials in the Roman way.

SIR DONALD MACLEAN.

President of Board of Education.

FREE TRADER.

London, Yesterday.

Sir Donald MacLean, President of the Board of Education, died suddenly at Liverpool to-day.—Reuter.

He was born in 1865 at Three in Scotland. He was a lawyer and practised successfully for many years. In 1906 he was elected as a Liberal for Bath. He was an ardent supporter of Lord Asquith who, in 1911, appointed him Deputy Chairman of Committees in the House of Commons.

During the war Sir Donald was Chairman of the tribunal set up to hear the appeals of those wanting exemption from military service. In 1916 he was made Privy Councillor and the following year he was knighted (K.B.E.). He supported Lord Asquith in the split with Lloyd George.

On the formation of the National Government in 1931 he was appointed President of the Board of Education. In the election that followed he was opposed by both a Conservative and Labour candidate in North Cornwall but won with a good majority.

During his political career he always opposed tariffs. In 1918 when he resigned the Deputy Chairman he became an active and bitter critic of Lloyd George and his policies. He was defeated in the elections of 1922, 1923 and 1924, but was returned in 1929.

From 1919 to 1922 he was Chairman of the Liberal Parliamentary Party.

WETS DOMINATE CONVENTION.

Republicans Gather at Chicago.

HOOVER ATTEMPTS COMPROMISE ON PROHIBITION.

Chicago, Yesterday.

In the vast stadium, gaily decorated with the flags of the forty-eight States of the Union, and fitted with microphones for world-wide broadcasting, the Republican National Convention opened amid the songs and shouts of the delegates, for whose convenience bars and speak-easies were working busily.

A furious controversy rages round the question of amending the prohibition laws. The Convention is confronting an overwhelmingly wet avalanche.

The Hoover forces led by the Secretary of War, Mr. Patrick Hurley, are making desperate efforts to reach a compromise between the outright repealists and the re-submissionists who control the gathering.

The dries who were able to dictate four years ago are in partial eclipse and President Hoover is at variance with a strong section of his party on the dry laws, so the question for prohibition was skillfully avoided in the opening speech of Senator Dickinson, who merely proposed the re-nomination of Mr. Hoover. Senator Dickinson demanded the safeguarding of the gold standard.—Reuter's Special Service.

UNREQUITED LOVE

Bangkok, May 27.

A battle in the Yawarat Road on Wednesday last led to the appearance of a young man, an old woman and her two daughters. It appeared that the youth, Nai Paen, approached his aunt and asked her for the hand of one of her daughters whom he declared he loved. The aunt mentioned this to the damsel in question, and she treated the proposal with disdain, going so far in her expression of this as to discharge the contents of a spittoon full into her admirer's face. Enraged at this contumacious treatment, he took off his slippers and with it smote the damsel in the face. The girl's sister then took a hand in the game, and the mother and two sisters were busy operating on the amorous youth till the police took a hand in the game and the whole party to the station.

THE LYTTON REPORT.

Views of Sir Robert Ho Tung.

"WAIT AND SEE."

London, Yesterday.

The view that it was best to await the Lytton report before coming to definite decisions in regard to the conference, was expressed by Sir Robert Ho Tung, when seen to-day by Reuter in regard to the prospects of the Shanghai Conference. He said that if the conference were held, both Shanghai and Manchuria should be discussed, since they were closely related.

Sir Robert Ho Tung, who emphasised that he was expressing an unofficial and personal opinion, said he saw no objection to retaining Shanghai for a neutral zone, provided the present method of administration continued, and the Chinese advisers were gradually increased to 50 per cent.—Reuter.

SOVIET SCIENTISTS.

Supply Insufficient for Five Years' Plan.

At the present time there are 45,000 scientific workers in the U.S.S.R., a number entirely insufficient for the tasks created by the Five Year Plan. The Government is devoting special attention to the problem of increasing the number of scientific workers.

The R.S.F.S.R. alone has at present 287 higher schools training 292,000 students, and it may be noted, incidentally, that 45 per cent. of the students of the medical, law and economic universities and 58 per cent. of the students in the technical colleges are workers or former workers.

In the Ukraine there are 167 universities as compared with 42 in 1930. White Russia, Transcaucasia and Central Asia have 91 universities, which is exactly the number existing in all Russia before the Revolution. In Kazakhstan, which had no universities before the Revolution, there are now six agricultural colleges.

The number of technical universities is especially large. In 1914 Russia had only 12 such colleges. To-day there are 170 with 115,000 students, in addition to 98 agricultural colleges with 50,000 students. By the end of this year there will be a total of 152 agricultural colleges with 80,000 students.

The number of post-graduate students qualifying for scientific work has increased from 7,000 in 1929 to 20,000 this year, 65 per cent. being members of the Communist Party.

The industrial research institutes which were created for the first time only after the Revolution, now number 121. There are 80 branch institutes with a large army of scientific workers.

"BLOOD BROTHERHOOD" IN JAPAN.

Instigators of Recent Outrages.

Tokyo, May 18.

It is becoming increasingly plain that the main instigators of the recent outrages are civilians of the extreme "Ronin" type, imbued with genuine disgust at the material outlook of modern civilization, which tends to make the pursuit of pleasure, wealth and self-interest the principal aim of life, hence their enmity towards politicians and others who are alleged to subordinate the interests of the people of the country to their own, resulting in widespread corruption and scandals in political life.

Following a rigorous cross-examination, Nisaka, a mysterious priest, who was arrested on March 11, as one of the prime instigators of the murder of Mr. Inagawa and Baron Tamagawa, admitted to having instigated the plot. He said that he had instigated the plot, and that he had instigated the plot, and that he had instigated the plot.

THE KULING CONFERENCE.

Financial Emergency Discussed.

NECESSITY OF MORE REVENUE.

Shanghai, Yesterday.

Government leaders from all parts of Central China have gathered at Kuling to attend the military conference, presided over by Marshal Chiang Kai-shek.

The conference is discussing the problem of bandit and Communist suppression and the question of Government finances, which are admitted to be in a serious state.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei declared that the Government had not lost sight of the "Lost Provinces" but nothing could be done concerning them until the Government's finances were put in order.

"PRIMPING" IN PUBLIC.

"Star" Denounces Women's Habit.

"Primping" in public is denounced by Lily Damita, the Parisienne star who declares that this popular habit of women—and especially American women—destroys their most precious weapon.

"To apply cosmetics to the face before friends and strangers is like telling them one's most private secrets," she says.

"A smart French woman never hurries through her toilette," declares Miss Damita. "No matter how late she is for an appointment, the allotted time for make-up, hair, bathing, perfuming, and manicuring is given full measure."

"When such a French woman leaves her boudoir, she takes a last long, leisurely look into her mirror. Her hat is adjusted once more to the correct angle, her gloves are always on and neatly hooked under her arm. Not until she has held a complete inspection and is assured that every detail is right, does she leave her room. But once the French woman leaves her mirror, she forgets about her appearance and makes no further adjustments. The prevalent repairing of the complexion in public is avoided."

Among the most important dressing-table secrets of the French woman, Miss Damita lists the following:

Spraying perfume on the inside of gloves and on each article of lingerie just before it is used, giving the face a quick, stimulating "facial" every morning before dressing; carefully rolling stockings and then securing them with several garters to prevent twisted seams and wrinkles.

CHAIR OF DRAMATIC ART.

Sir Nigel Playfair's Plea at Oxford.

JOBS IN FILMS.

Sir Nigel Playfair, who said in a speech at Oxford recently that it was time for Oxford to set up a chair of dramatic art, based his claim on commercial as well as aesthetic grounds. Sir Nigel, who was the guest of the Oxford Luncheon Club, said the film industry had now become one of the great industries of this country, as it had long been in America.

"I do feel it is a very great pity," he said, "that in a University like this so little attention is still paid to that part of education which might fit young men and women to enter so important an industry as the theatre and the films have now become. Delightful as the yearly performance of the O.U.D.S. may be, it is a very small attempt to educate people for a great profession that might give employment to a considerable section of the young men who come to Oxford."

"Just as in this great University you have a chair of poetry and a chair of music, so you should have a chair of dramatic art. I can plead for it even on the mere ground that it is a sound, solid, commercial proposition that a certain section of the undergraduates who come up to the University should make their profession that of the theatre and of the films."

Sir Nigel added that, although hitherto the film industry had been in the hands of the wrong people, he believed that phase was now passing, and that they would soon see the industry conducted by real artists.

SCOTS GIRLS IN TOURIST BOOST.

Plan to Allure the Americans.

That a bevy of bonnie Scottish lassies might be sent to America, fully versed in the history and romance of Scotland with a view to attracting tourists to this country, was the proposition put by Mr. Wilfrid L. Hird to the Glasgow Publicity Board recently when he spoke on "An Outsider's View of Scottish Trade Development."

They had a great industry lying at their feet, he claimed. It was a gift, and yet they were doing nothing about it, the tourist industry.

The Development Council had been going out to secure new industries from America, and he wished them luck. But if through the Travel Association they could get Americans to come over as vacationists, they would get to know and like Scotland and might move in the direction desired.

Real Publicity.
America was fertile ground, and they had got to attack the Americans in a spectacular way with real publicity. Here is how Mr. Hird would do it:

"First of all I would get together a bunch of educated and very pretty girls. I would put them through a special course regarding Scotland, telling them something about golf, scenery, history, etc., and I would send them to America. Each one of them would take charge of a booth in a tourist or steamship office. The booths would be decorated with heather and tartan ribbon, and would be known as the Scottish Vacation Information Bureau. The lady in charge would be dressed in Highland dress, and that would carry through the idea of the spectacular."

Speaking of the Trade mission ship, Letitia, Mr. Hird said he wished it every possible success, but there were no Scottish girls aboard! Why did they not have with them a dozen Scottish girls in Highland dress to help the "Come to Scotland Movement?"

"LIGHT-FOOTED"

Berlin.—In Leipzig the street cleaners have two small electric lamps attached to the back of their boots and also a pair of cleaned machines.

The idea is that the cleaners, being always on the move, will have their boots cleaned and will avoid "raining" the street cleaners.

CARD SCANDAL IN VIENNA.

Barons Arrested for Cheating.

LEADING PHYSICIAN KILLS HIMSELF.

Social circles in Vienna have been stirred by the arrest of two members of the aristocracy, after the revelation of a sensational baccarat swindle at an exclusive club.

This was followed by the discovery to-day of the bodies of a leading physician, Dr. Loewy, and his wife, lying on cushions in a gas-filled room of their luxurious apartment. Glasses which had contained poison were lying near.

The arrested men are Baron Otto Guttman Gelse and Baron Henry Manasse. They are charged with cheating at baccarat, and cardsharpping. Joseph Kuehberger, cashier of the exclusive Vienna Circle Club, was also arrested on a charge of assisting in the alleged frauds.

Behind the whole scandal is the mysterious figure of a Hungarian who claims the title of Baron George Berzevicky. It is alleged that after dissipating huge fortunes, which had come to him through two wives, this man began some years ago to live by gambling.

Though he himself was unable to gain membership of the club, it is alleged that he instructed the two Barons now under arrest how to use packs of cards prepared by him. Feeling that he had not received his proper share of the winnings, he is stated to have denounced the plot to the police.

Dr. Loewy, it is established, was an innocent dupe of the others, who are said to have persuaded him to use their system, by describing it as a "horoscope of fortune."

FISHERMAN'S LUCKY FIND.

Pirated Hoard of Hidden Gold.

Most of us have read Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island," and, if we were lucky enough to have read it in the days of our youth, have been excited by dreams of buried treasure and buccaners' lonely islands on which one day we might find ourselves. Here is an echo of such things in sober fact.

It was reported at Nassau recently that Mr. George Fitzgerald, a fisherman, of New Providence, the principal island of the Bahamas, had discovered five gold bars on the southern coast of the island. When the police interviewed him and directed him to take them to the spot, he declined to do so unless he were allowed to take a relative with him.

Mr. Fitzgerald was detained in Nassau Gaol while a party of police proceeded to the southern end of the island, where the bars of gold were found secreted in some rocks on which was a masonic mark.

The value of the find is over $12,000. It is believed that it formed part of a pirate's hoard.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who was released immediately after the discovery, will receive one-third of the treasure, as the rest, under the local law of treasure-trove, falls to the Crown. Despite the Crown's big bite, old Isak never dreamt of such luck and we can but say—lucky fisherman!

MADEMOISELLE OF ARMENTIERES.

She Smacked A General's Face.

How "Mademoiselle from Armentieres," most famous of all war songs, came to be written was revealed for the first time by Mr. Zo Elliott, an American composer.

Mr. Elliott states: "Mademoiselle was a waitress in the Cafe Pas de Calais at Armentieres. She was twenty, not forty. And she was virtuous."

"Troops were resting in Armentieres and a London music-hall actor, 'Red' Roland, and the Canadian song writer, Lieutenant Gitz-Rice, organised a musical show. They wanted a topical song."

"They were baffled for words when a Canadian general went to the cafe, and, disregarding the advice of his brother officers, attempted to kiss the waitress. She promptly slapped his face in front of every one in the cafe."

"The story quickly spread, and Roland and Gitz-Rice saw that it would make a hit for their show."

CHARABANC HANGS IN MID-AIR.

Passengers Within An Inch of Destruction.

Passengers in one of the new monster motor-coaches that ply between Nice and Monte Carlo had a hair-raising five minutes when their coach collided with a private car on the narrow, winding coast road.

The force of the collision locked the steering gear, and, completely out of control, the great coach mounted the "pavement," knocked down the iron railings bordering the road and came to rest with its front wheels suspended in mid-air over a drop of about 50 feet.

Another inch or so and the vehicle, with its load of passengers, would have crashed to destruction.

No less thrilling was the experience of a happy party engaged in a peaceful game of bowls on the ground immediately below the scene of the accident.

They look up and saw the front of the charabanc suspended over their heads and, likely at any moment to plunge down on them.

Two powerful oranges were sent for to extricate the coach from its dangerous position.

TIMING THE STARS.

New Clock May Prove Their Rotation.

AMERICAN PROFESSOR'S SUGGESTION.

Cambridge, Massachusetts.

A new clock for measuring long periods of time may prove the rotation of the great galaxy of stars in which the solar system is located, Prof. Robert H. Baker, director of University of Illinois Observatory suggested here in an address during the dedication of the new building housing the great Harvard collection of four hundred thousand astronomical photographs.

The revolution of the Milky Way, which occurs about once in four hundred million years, would supplement the rotation of the earth, which measures the day, and the swing of the earth around the sun, that measures the year.

When the dinosaurs existed, some two hundred million years ago, Prof. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard College Observatory, said in commenting, the solar system was on the other side of the galaxy.

The age of the earth is not less than eighteen hundred million years, and probably about two thousand million years, as measured by the radioactive clock, Prof. Arthur Holmes of Durham College, England, told the astronomers. Accurate determinations of the amount of helium in rocks give the geologist information on their age, because helium is given off at a known rate by the disintegration of radioactive uranium and thorium elements in the rocks.

The oldest known rocks exist in North America. Up until a few weeks ago uranium from the Black Hills, S. D., held the record with 1,460 million years of age, but radium-bearing rock from the radium bonanza at Bear Lake in northern Canada has shown nearly the same age, and rock from Manitoba assays an age of eighteen hundred million years. As these rocks were molten when laid down and injected into existing rocks, the rocks around them must be even older.

New estimates of the age of the earth have disturbed the astronomer's confidence in the stability of the solar system. Prof. E. W. Brown of Yale declared. Although he feels no concern about the immediate safety of the earth, he cannot tell just what it was doing two thousand million years ago when its crust was formed. Prof. P. W. Bridgman of Harvard warned that it was unsafe to theorize as to what had happened thousands of millions of years in the past and what would happen far in the future because we have only a few hundred years of time on which to base ideas.

The age of the universe suffered an extreme pruning at the hands of Prof. Ernst J. Opik, Estonian astronomer working at Harvard. Ten years ago the universe was thought to be ten million years old; now Prof. Opik divides these oldest estimates by a million or so and makes the universe about the same age as the earth, about three thousand million years.

A BURGLARS' "CLUB".

Paris.

"We have been sent to repair the roof," said two young men to M. Lenormand, of Rouen, when he protested at their presence on his tiles. But M. Lenormand did not offer them a ladder to come down, but promptly informed the police, who made a neat capture. It transpired that the men belonged to a "Burglars' Club" of which they were the leading members. Some 20 burglaries had been committed in the neighbourhood by the "club," which was composed of men who exercised some trade which would give them a plausible reason for their presence about a house. The two burglars in question really were workers in zinc, and were perfectly capable of mending roofs as well as of stealing silver.

Mr. Sydney Lane, the winner of a £20,000 prize in the Irish Sweep, who is still in Jamshepur, told a representative of The Times of India that for the present he has sent for just sufficient money to pay off Mr. Kochhar, the Punjabi student and co-worker who bought an eighth share of the winning ticket and to defray his passage to England.

He does not wish to marry in the immediate future.

He has been receiving scores of proposals by almost every mail, but, somehow, he cannot make up his mind. He intends to remain a happy bachelor, at least, as long as his mother lives with him. Though his mother fondly asks him to marry, he begs of her not to put that idea into his head. He is happy as he is.

He does not intend to bring out the whole of the prize money to India, as he has decided to leave for England, and to settle there permanently. He has not as yet made up his mind where to settle down. He has lived in Bedford and was about to enter the Bedford Grammar School when he came out to India with his father. He has at present no intention of visiting the United States.

Mr. Lane intends to take his mother, to whom he is very much devoted, to live with him. The only promise he has up to now made is the one to his mother, that he will give her half of the prize money. He intends to fulfil it.

What he will do in England Mr. Lane is not yet sure of. He is sure of one thing however—he will never go in for stocks and shares, or for any sort of speculation. If at all, he proposes to invest his money in gift-edged securities. He wishes to spend his money in England.

He does not intend to bring out the whole of the prize money to India, as he has decided to leave for England, and to settle there permanently. He has not as yet made up his mind where to settle down. He has lived in Bedford and was about to enter the Bedford Grammar School when he came out to India with his father. He has at present no intention of visiting the United States.

Mr. Lane intends to take his mother, to whom he is very much devoted, to live with him. The only promise he has up to now made is the one to his mother, that he will give her half of the prize money. He intends to fulfil it.

What he will do in England Mr. Lane is not yet sure of. He is sure of one thing however—he will never go in for stocks and shares, or for any sort of speculation. If at all, he proposes to invest his money in gift-edged securities. He wishes to spend his money in England.

Most Outstanding of New Cars

Twelve-Six: A Saloon

FOUR-SPEED GEARBOX WITH CENTRAL CONTROL.

SLIDING ROOF

One of the most outstanding of the new cars is the Twelve-Six, which is listed as a saloon only. The engine of this car is a six-cylinder side valve, with dimensions of 59 x 90 m.m., and cubic capacity of 1,476 c.c. The Treasury rating is 12.95 h.p. Ignition is by coil and distributor, and cooling by thermosyphon, fan assisted.

A four-speed gearbox with central control is employed and has a silent third speed, or, as the manufacturers term it, a "Hi-Lo" alternative top. Suspension is by long semi-elliptic springs encased in leather gaiters, the rear springs being underdamped, shock absorbers are supplied all round. The tank is mounted at the rear of the chassis, and is fitted with a two-way tap controlling a reserve supply. The specification includes chromium-plating to all bright fittings, Triplex screen leather upholstery, adjustable front seats, a trip speedometer, windscreen wiper, ventilators, etc. Following the usual Singer practice, the body, which gives ample accommodation in both compartments, is of the six-light genuine coachbuilt type, highly finished in cellulose.

Next amongst the new models comes the Eighteen-Six. This has dimensions of 69.5 x 90 m.m., and a capacity of 2,050 c.c. The Treasury rating is 17.9 h.p. As in the case of the Twelve-Six, side-by-side valves are employed. The body is particularly luxurious, and is standardised with a patent sliding roof and Triplex glass all round. Like the Twelve-Six, and indeed, every model of the Singer range, the new Eighteen-Six has a four-speed gear-box with a "Hi-Lo" alternative top.

The new Silent Six has the same bore as the Eighteen-Six (and, therefore, the same tax), but its longer stroke of 95 m.m. provides a total cubic capacity of 2,180 c.c. The engine is of the overhead valve type, push rod operated, and a seven bearing crankshaft fitted with a vibration damper is employed. The pistons are of special aluminium alloy, and the connecting rods of duralumin.

Luvax Hydraulic. The long semi-elliptic springs are encased in gaiters, the rear springs being underdamped, and, as in the case of the Eighteen-Six, are damped by Luvax hydraulic double acting shock absorbers front and rear.

The most luxurious of the Singer range is the Kaye Don saloon. This has a chassis similar to that of the Silent-Six, but bodywork of extremely handsome and advanced design, for which Mr. Kaye Don, working in conjunction with the company's engineers, has been responsible.

A sloping "V" shaped screen is used, and the visor peak is rounded off neatly. The same sweep is carried out on the radiator nose, the filler cap being found beneath the bonnet.

Smaller Singers. Turning to the smaller Singers, the famous Junior is continued for 1932 with many improvements. Much increased power has been obtained from the engine, which, as in the past, is of the overhead cam type. (Continued at foot of next Column.)

REAL ECONOMY IN NEW CARS.

Better Engines and Brakes.

IMPROVEMENTS IN 1932.

Automobile prices are not greatly lower this year, but value is certainly greater than ever before, with the inclusion of safety glass all round, the sliding roof, real leather for upholstery, arm-rests, bumpers and many other items formerly classed as extras. Whether present value can be maintained is another matter, and the doubt provides another argument for buying a new car now.

Cars will never be better as regards quality for price, the old car is always depreciating and by keeping an old car an owner is always depriving himself of all the conveniences, economies and pleasures offered by the car of 1932.

The owner of an old-type 12 h.p. model may find it a real economy as well as a pleasure to own one of the new 9 h.p. or 10 h.p. cars, while the owner of a 7 h.p. or 8 h.p. small car will find many advantages in the slightly larger car, at very little more cost, although the British babies represent motoring in its most economical form, and a wonderfully satisfactory form, too.

Points for Decision. The 1932 car in all sizes is definitely better braked as well as better engine, and the standard of braking is now generally satisfactory. This item can be disregarded, but the accessibility of brake adjustments as well as of lubricating points may be given some consideration.

Even if the car is to be serviced, it will be the better looked after if all point requiring attention are convenient of access.

As regards the number of cylinders, when it comes to over 12 h.p. the general preference is for six cylinders, and very naturally so. Below 12 h.p. there are some excellent little sixes whose running amply justifies the greater number of parts, but the novice is perhaps the better advised to start with a good four, which lends itself a little more to owner maintenance. But things being equal, the six generally costs a little extra to buy and run, but the buyer must decide for himself if he sufficiently appreciates the difference between the small fours and sixes.

(Continued from previous Column.) shaft type. Full forced feed lubrication is provided, and the four-speed gearbox has now a silent third gear. The brake mechanism has been re-designed and improved, and a new type radiator has been fitted. A sturdier frame gives lower body mounting, with a corresponding lower centre of gravity. Although the Junior may well be said to be a full-sized car, its engine is rated at 7.78 h.p.

Junior "Special." An altogether new car of extremely striking lines is the Junior "Special." In the main, this has the same chassis specification as the standard model, but the engine dimensions are increased—80 x 88 m.m., Treasury rating, 8.93 h.p. This bodywork is very attractive indeed, being a replica of the larger Kaye Don saloon. With its powerful engine and very advanced lines, this new model will undoubtedly prove very popular.

The last of the four-cylinder Singers is the now well-known 10 h.p. car which was introduced for the first time at the Olympia Show last year. It has been improved in many respects chief amongst which may be mentioned the inclusion of a silent third gear, and very much more powerful engine.

In Atlantic City, several months ago, a man called H. H. Thomas lost control of his car and was thrown through a grocer's window into a barrel of pickles. (Should one presume that he got 60 days for being pickled?)

The first pneumatic tyre ever invented was a balloon tyre. A gentleman named Thompson contrived it in 1845.

THE SUCCESS OF DUNLOP RUBBER.

Products of World-Wide Corporation.

PNEUMATIC TYRES FOR RICSHAS.

In every branch of industry are to be found concerns that from modest beginnings have developed into enormous corporations with world-wide activities. Of these, perhaps none has been more amazing than the growth of the Dunlop Rubber Company with great factories in all five continents.

Dunlop owns over 200,000 spindles engaged day and night in producing their famous cable twist cord fabric, employed in the manufacture of their tyres.

Dunlop consumes 40,000 tons of rubber a year, — owns and operates 100,000 acres of rubber plantations in the tropics, employing approximately 15,000 people in this work alone.

Dunlop has 60,000 dealers all over the world selling Dunlop Tyres and giving service to Dunlop users in every continent of the globe.

Based on an average of two years' life, it is estimated that there are approximately 30,000,000 Dunlop tyres of all types actually running on the highways of the world. It is an actual fact that every 2 1/4 seconds somewhere in the world someone buys a Dunlop Tyre.

For Everything. The Dunlop Rubber Company are manufacturers of tyres for every kind of vehicle, from the enormous tyres used on the large bombing and passenger aeroplanes to the diminutive rubber perambulator type. It is their boast that "If it runs on rubber, there is a Dunlop Tyre for it."

As pioneers of the pneumatic motor tyre, it is fitting that the Dunlop Rubber Company should have been the first to introduce the pneumatic ricksha tyre in China, where it has practically entirely superseded the old solid rubber tyre.

They were requested by the late Sir Henry Segrave to develop the tyres on which he made his thrilling speed record of 203.8 miles per hour at Daytona Beach on his 1,000 Horse-Power Sunbeam Racer on March 29, 1927, and Dunlop made the tyres on which Sir Malcolm Campbell reached nearly 260 miles per hour in 1931.

Sporting Equipment. After tyres, the Dunlop Rubber Company are best known as the producers of the famous Dunlop Golf Ball which has been played by the winners of practically all the most important Championships and Tournaments in the British Isles.

It is interesting to know that the Open Golf Championship of China was recently won with the Dunlop Ball.

The Dunlop Sports Company were pioneers of chemical gas inflation of tennis balls which method involves a very much smaller loss than was experienced by the old methods. But the Dunlop Company, decided to take still further precautions. A system of pressure packing has been introduced by which the balls are packed under air pressure in cylindrical tins. The result is that wherever a Dunlop ball is purchased it can be relied upon to have the correct inflation pressure.

In 1931 the Dunlop Ball was adopted by 23 countries for their National Championships and in the Davis Cup matches, 22 out of 29 nations used Dunlop Balls including the Finals.

FORD PLANT NEARS COMPLETION.

200,000 Cars Per Year.

LARGEST IN EUROPE.

The new Ford plant beside the Thames at Dagenham, England, is nearing completion and much of it is already operating.

Work was started early in 1929 in what was then marshland. Fourteen thousand piles were driven into the earth. Beds of concrete began to grow up on top of them and soon there was an expanse of concrete floor space stretching away as far as the eye could see. Where cattle had formerly grazed, a 23-acre concrete floor was shaped.

The factory, when completed, will be the largest single automobile plant in Europe and will have a capacity of 200,000 cars a year with the possibility of giving regular employment to 15,000 men. The entire plant from Manchester has already been moved down, together with a large percentage of workers employed there.

Has Own Blast Furnaces. It is the only plant in the south of England to have its own blast furnaces. The company plans to produce pig iron at the rate of 500 tons a day. In its coke ovens 800 tons of coal will be turned into coke every 24 hours. Everything needed for Ford cars will be manufactured.

Each of the enormous sheds has been laid with wood block flooring, divided by railroad sidings. Some end in the buildings; others carry on around the opposite side of the building, and link up with the main line system.

The plant has its own water frontage and jetty, approachable by vessels at all stages of the tide. Ocean-going vessels will have direct access for loading and unloading. The customs department will have its own office on the works in the immediate vicinity and special officers will be on duty.

The tops of the workshops are mostly of glass, to let in as much daylight as possible. Pressure of buttons allow six miles of roof windows to glide open, operated by electricity.

The first bus was a Mack, and the first Mack was a bus. It was built in 1900 and has travelled nearly a million miles during its life of service. It is an ungainly looking vehicle, and has four sets of seats one behind the other, but it's still going strong, and evidently was built for service.

There are oddities in every walk of life—Ripley and Hix have cashed in pretty heavily on that evident fact—here for instance, are some automotive oddities that have been collected from hither and yon.

A woman to start her car. This series of accidents convinced Cadillac it was time to use the starter. A day was set for the demonstration of the starter's practicability. There were bankers who were in doubt. There were electricians who said it couldn't be done. The moment was one of the most dramatic the industry has ever seen.

An Effective Reply. A foot was pressed on a button and an engine responded. That was Cadillac's simple but effective answer. That was 20 years ago. Soon thereafter, the entire motoring world was clamoring for cars with self-starters. Drivers long had tired of cranking obstinate engines. They were weary of the broken arm era. At first, they were shy because of the lightning rumours. But the rumours were rapidly dissipated. Other cars were quick to adopt the self-starter, and the door to mass production began to swing open.

And even in this year of 1932, automotive improvements which are hailed as phenomenal still are described as "the greatest since the self-starter."

The Coming of Age of the Self-Starter

A Diffident Reception In 1911

BROKEN ARMS LEAD TO ITS INTRODUCTION.

LIGHTNING BOGEY SURMOUNTED

The time was 1911. The place was a country road. The action was a man driving a Cadillac, the first automobile equipped with a self-starter.

The man's expression was not a happy one. He showed no trace of the pride that comes with new car ownership. He was worried. The engine purred sweetly. The tyres held up perfectly. The car rode well, considering the roads. Still the man was worried.

He kept glancing upward. His face scowled even as the sky. The clouds kept gathering. They continued to grow darker. There was a blinding flash, and a streak of lightning shot its freakish fingers through the blackness. The man jumped from the car and ran.

The Lightning Scare. And why not? Hadn't he heard that lightning was likely to strike a car with one of those new electric self-starters? Hadn't he heard about some man being electrocuted while driving? Of course he had, so he perched himself on a rail fence several yards distant and sat there in the rain until the storm was over.

This attitude did not last long. This man and other motorists learned quickly from experience that the reports about lightning's affinity for the new starting equipment were false.

Injuries, however, caused by automobile cranks, did lead to the adoption of the self-starter. During one month five Cadillac employees suffered broken arms from unruly starting cranks. A man suffered a broken jaw while helping

TEXAS OIL TANK FIRE.

Outbreak at Tsun Wan.
QUICKLY EXTINGUISHED.

Shortly after eight o'clock on Tuesday night, a kerosene oil bulk tank of the Texas Oil Company, at their installation at Tsun Wan district, exploded and got on fire, but luckily nobody was injured. Before a call could be sent through to the Kowloon Fire Brigade Station, the staff and coolies at the installation, battled the flames with the Company's own equipment, and extinguished the fire within a short period.

The tank was badly damaged, but the cause of the outbreak is at present unknown.

OPIUM CLEVERLY CONCEALED.

Chinese Carrier
Fined $5,000.

A Chinese who appeared before Mr. Schofield in the Central Police Court this morning, charged with the possession of 135 taels of illicit opium, pleaded guilty, and stated that he was a "carrier" for a man, who was going abroad.

Defendant, who was arrested on the Po Tak Wharf, had the opium cleverly concealed in the false bottom of a box.

A fine of $5,000 with the alternative of a year's hard labour, was imposed.

BAG THIEF CAUGHT.

Street Chase by Indian Constable.

Six weeks' hard labour was imposed on Wong Sau, unemployed, by Mr. Grantham in the Central Police Court this morning, for stealing a handbag, containing $56.50, the property of Miss Lau Wai-tak.

Sub-inspector Dick stated the complainant, along with a lady friend, was making purchases at a shop at 276 Queen's Road Central. She left her purse on the counter. Defendant entered the doorway, snatched the bag and ran.

An alarm was raised by a shop fold, and the defendant was caught by an Indian constable, in the street.

In the Accident Department, the net premiums for 1931 amounted to $573,550. 15s. 8d. and the claims paid and outstanding amounted to $238,291. 15s. 1d. Provision for dividend of $100,000 was made.

MOTHER'S PATHETIC PLEA IN COURT.

Desires Daughter to Marry.

MAN'S FRANK ADMISSION.

A pathetic plea by a mother that the defendant should marry her daughter, was made in the Central Police Court before Mr. Grantham, this morning.

The defendant, Wong Pat, was charged with having harboured a girl, Lo San, (15) at Pei Ho Street on June 12, without the consent of her mother, Yau Sze. Defendant pleaded guilty, stating that he was unaware of local regulations.

Detective-Sergeant D. C. Macdonald, who prosecuted, said that the girl worked as an amah in Hollywood Road. She left her employers on Saturday, telling them that her mother was ill. She had known the defendant, because his aunt bought her when she was seven years of age, but it was not long ago that the girl's mother redeemed her for $300.

The girl was taken to Sham Shui Po, and stayed with the defendant for three days, with the idea of finding employment in a knitting factory. The case was referred to the S.C.A., who took a very serious view.

Sergeant Macdonald added that mother saw her daughter walking with the defendant in Morrison Street. When the mother approached her daughter the latter said "I don't want to talk with you. Let us all go to the Police Station and have the matter settled."

The mother, who was in Court, pleaded with tears, that as the girl had stayed with the defendant for three days, he should marry her.

Sergeant Macdonald remarked that defendant was willing to do so, and, in reply to his Worship, agreed that he did not act like a real criminal.

His Worship suggested that the question of marriage be referred to the S.C.A., and remanded the case for 24 hours.

BONUS BILL PASSED.

President Hoover appealed to the American Legion, the War Veterans' organisation, and on his suggestion the Bill was dropped.

Hunger Parade.

Last week 10,000 destitute veterans invaded Washington demanding that the Bill be passed.

They camped on the banks of the river Potomac, most of them sleeping in the fields in spite of the cold snap that prevailed. Washington was shocked when they saw that in the hunger parade staged by these men there were many wearing Distinguished Service Crosses and Congressional Medals. It was predicted by the leaders of the parade that by the end of the month their numbers will have increased to 50,000.

Effect on Business.

Supporters of the Bill declare that it will stimulate business by putting money into circulation while its opponents, Treasury officials and bankers, declare that it will have a disastrous effect on American credit.

TEXAS OIL CLERK CHARGED.

Alleged Utterance of Forged Cheque.

BAIL $2,000.

Arrested by Police on the Tung On Wharf on Tuesday, Chai Eng-kool, a clerk employed by the Texas Oil Company, was brought before Mr. A. W. G. H. Grantham in the Central Police Court this morning, charged with the alleged utterance of a forged cheque for the sum of $524, at the Mercantile Bank of India, Ltd., 7, Queen's Road Central.

Detective-Inspector John Murphy appeared for the prosecution and asked for a remand of forty-eight hours.

Defendant:—May I apply for bail?

Inspector Murphy, replying to his Worship, said he had no objection provided bail was fixed at a substantial sum.

His Worship:—Bail of $2,000. Defendant was remanded to Saturday morning.

MAN IN WOMAN'S CLOTHES.

Story of Trick on a Pathan.

Nagpur, May 8.

A story of a tragic ending to a trick played by villagers who dressed a man up in woman's clothes to shame a Pathan, was related yesterday in the Court of Mr. Agarwalla, Additional District and Sessions Judge of Nagpur.

The Pathan, Amir Khan, is charged before the Sessions Judge with the murder of a villager named Nathoo.

The case for the Crown is that Amir Khan who kept a grocer's shop in the village, one day asked his servant secretly to arrange an assignation for him with Nathoo's wife.

Nathoo came to know of this and he and some other villagers planned to play a trick on the Pathan with the object of putting him to shame.

Amir Khan was told by his servant that the woman would meet him at 10 o'clock at night under a certain mango tree outside the village.

At the appointed time the Pathan went to the place mentioned, and there saw a figure standing whom he took to be a woman, but who was really a man named Ganpat dressed in woman's clothes. The unsuspecting Pathan took hold of the arm of Ganpat, when the latter disclosed his identity and began reproaching Amir Khan.

Annoyed at thus having been tricked, Amir Khan is alleged to have threatened Ganpat, whereupon the latter shouted for help. Nathoo and Maruti ran to the rescue. On seeing Nathoo, the Pathan is alleged to have attacked him with a knife and to have stabbed him in the stomach as a result of which Nathoo died. Maruti received serious injuries on the neck.
